Pearson Graduate Network

Presenter – Louise Hedley

Years P–6

FOUR FULL DAYS

In these sessions:

The Pearson Graduate Network aims to support teachers in their first year of teaching. Throughout the year network members will attend four training sessions which aim to develop their skills and knowledge of pedagogy and classroom practice. The network will be supported by an online forum which will allow network members to communicate between sessions and ask the trainer for ideas and advice. Participants will also receive a quality Pearson teaching resource to support the topic of each training session.

In this course participants will take part in the following sessions:

- Classroom Management: A look at strategies for general classroom management, assessment and the development of social behaviour
- Literacy: Discover a range of activities, techniques and create some resources that can be used to enhance Literacy skills
- Numeracy: Explore a range of open-ended activities that challenge students understandings and application of Numeracy skills
- Technology: Develop an understanding of a range of free software packages and their applications in a school setting

About the presenter:

Louise Hedley – Louise is a passionate educator with a diverse range of educational experiences. She has a Masters of Education specialising in ICT and International Schooling. Louise undertook a professional learning fellowship, researching the use of interactive whiteboards in the UK. This led to the role of ICT coordinator, overseeing the installation of interactive whiteboards and development of comprehensive ICT programs. Louise is a trained teacher of the International Baccalaureate's Primary Years Program and has held the position of Numeracy Coordinator after becoming a certified Early Years Numeracy Coordinator. Louise now works as a full time professional learning presenter and has presented in both Australia and abroad.
